

THE GAZETTE.

SA. WEDNESDAY MAY 21.

The more Henry George talks about abolishing poverty, the more he fleeces the people who are foolish enough to pay their money to hear him talk.

The man who has made himself solid with the democracy of the country is Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson. He has bought $5,000 worth of bonds from the north's chief postoffice.

One of the old republican stagers, who has been a campaigner since Harrison's time, says the next national ticket will be headed by Blaine and Cleveland, and that nothing can prevent both from being nominated.

A Chicago man on a strike for a particular pay day reminded one of the fable of the dog that dropped his meat to grab at his shadow. Now they haven't any pay day at all, but expenses go on just the same.

The new congressional appointment bill as it passed the Pennsylvania legislature gives the republicans nineteen districts, the democrats seven and leaves two doubtful. The democrats should be thankful that they got seven straight districts. In a state like Pennsylvania they should not have any district.

There is a good deal of sense in the method of reviewing poetry, as suggested by the Literary World: "The book has a cubic content of 117 inches; it contains 608 pages, covers (we take the author's word for it) 300 poems, and it weighs 2 pounds 2 ounces—all for $2, with the portrait of the author thrown in.

The Michigan senate has passed an iron-clad oleomargarine bill, which makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture the commodity in Michigan. The bill provides that whoever sells it or keeps it for sale is liable to a fine of $100 to $500 and imprisonment for six months to three years.

Nobody yet knows who will succeed the late Alexander Mitchell as president of the St. Paul system. The latest and most important report is that General Manager Miller, who was thought to be a formidable candidate for the position, will not be a candidate and has announced to a friend that he "could not accept it under any circumstances."

Of the 121,000,000 bushels of wheat imported into Great Britain last year, three-fifths, or 72,000,000 bushels, went from the United States, 20,000,000 from India, 7,000,000 from Russia, an equal quantity from Australia and Germany, 7,488,000 from Chile, and 2,000,000 bushels from all other countries.

With these figures as an index for the future, there doesn't seem to be any ground to fear the immediate falling of the Irish demand for American wheat, unless the English government shall conclude to insist that a good many English stomachs must go hungry or be filled by something besides wheat bread.

The singular workings of the civil service reform administration has found another illustration in the removal of the consul general of Paris. Mr. George Walker was recognized by everybody as a model officer. He conducted the work of the consulate with the ease and precision secured by his being at once a thorough man of affairs, and as familiar with the French language and business methods as with those of his own country.

He was besides a student and an author, appreciated by the public men and the men of letters in the gay capital. But for all this the administration did not want him, and a fast horse man and a good democrat was put in Mr. Walker's place.

General Daniel E. Sickles has been appointed immigration commissioner of New York, at a salary of $4,500. The first office he held since 1859 when he was minister to Spain. The general first came into prominence by killing Philip Barton Key in the streets of Washington in 1859, for entering his home. Sickles was then a democratic congressman from New York city, and Key was United States district attorney for Washington. The general was tried and acquitted. He went to the war, became a major general and lost a leg at Gettysburg. He was a gallant soldier, and always an incorruptible man. He broke up the famous Erie railway ring. As he grows older and begins to see the setting sun in his life, he is forced to confess that the greatest blunder of his life was in shooting Key. Revenge was sweet for a moment, but sober thought and manly meditation brought on remorse.

"THE MERCHANTS OF AMERICA." On Thursday evening, Order H. Pethers, Esq., of this city, responded to the toast "The Merchants of America." On an occasion of that kind, or on any occasion, Mr. Pethers has unlimited resources as a speaker. He throws scholarship, sentiment, business, judgment, and sense in what he says, and it is no wonder that the oration of the evening attended the merchants' banquet, thought him fully equal to Colonel Vilas

FOURTH OF JULY.

Public Meeting of the Council Chamber on Monday Evening.

There will be a public meeting held at the common council chamber on Monday evening next, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements for a proper celebration of the Fourth of July. Let all patriotic citizens attend, and start the arrangements with a boom.

Many Citizens.

SHIRAZETTE.

—Last night of the oratorio.

—W. G. Wheeler went to Chicago this noon of business.

—Mr. A. Gollig has just received a fresh lot of candy from New York.

—Remember and attend the Fourth of July meeting at the council chamber on Monday night.

—George K. Steele, advance agent of the Burr Robbins' show, was in the city a short time this morning.

—A case ball team from this city is in Evansville this afternoon playing ball with the club of that village.

—This afternoon the Young People's Society of Christ church are enjoying a picnic up the river.

—Everyone was busy to-day making sentences in which a peculiar kind of weather rhymed with "Islam."

—Janesville theater-goers will have a treat on June 1st, in the appearance of Jeffry-Lewis at Myers opera house.

—Attention is called to the college, new price list, which shows tuitions reduced nearly 50 per cent, for the summer term.

—The attendance of the Baptist church will be pleased to learn that Mrs. H. A. Smith will sing both morning and evening to-morrow.

—Wilson Lane is now established in his new law office. It is in the same block as his former location and is rather more suitable.

—An adjourned meeting of the common council will be held at 8 o'clock this evening, to take action on the resignation of Mayor Winans.

—Bills for the June races announced in the Gazette recently have been put up around town. The dates are June 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th.

—Those that went to Keshonong and Indiana Port yesterday returned with strings of fish that were good to behold. And as for the stories, they broke all records.

—The commander of W. H. Sergeant Post No. 20, G. A. R., requests the members of the committee on Memorial Services to meet at Post Hall on to-morrow (Sunday) at two o'clock p. m.

—During the year ending April 30th the new McLean Woolen Manufacturing Company manufactured and sold over four hundred and thirty thousand yards of cloaking, consumer, tricoles and replicates.

—This morning the Star restaurant on South Main street was connected with the telephone exchange. Frozen sweetmeats, sent by electricity ought to be very popular, especially if it is the kind that the Star always serves.

—It is said that one or two parties are contemplating engaging in the artesian water trade. They propose to deliver the water once or twice a day to the people in different parts of the city at a stated price per gallon or barrel. It is thought "there's millions in it."

—Whether or not the Rock Legion of Select Knights will turn out on Decoration day, is to be decided on Monday evening. A full meeting is therefore desired. The company presents a very fine appearance, and would be an interesting feature of the parade.

—Captain M. A. Newman, of the Janesville Guards, has gone to Washington to attend the great National Military Encampment, which will be held in that city next week. Captain Newman has been appointed a member of General Anger's staff, the general having command of the camp.

—A horse, attached to a buggy in which a couple of ladies were riding, became frightened at the cars near the depot this forenoon and started on a run. The buggy was overturned near the Depot hotel, and the young ladies were considerably bruised and scratched, but no very serious injuries were received. The buggy was somewhat broken.

—Since hearing the testimony of Dr. J. W. St. John as to the circumstances surrounding Mrs. Harry Ebbitt's automobile statement, Judge Bennett has been occupied in listening to the arguments as to whether the statement itself was properly offered in evidence. The decision on this point will go far to establish the result of the trial, as without the statement it will be very difficult to convict.

—The demand for money from the new Building Association is increasing in a very gratifying manner. All the available funds were disposed of last evening at a premium of forty per cent and wants remained unsatisfied. The property of the association is assured and its beneficial influence in the community is felt in a very marked manner. The secretary informs us that the next series will not be open for subscription until August.

—It is no easy matter for the average fisherman now-a-days to distinguish a black-bass from an ordinary sucker or bull-head. A well known young lady angler, who spends much of her time at the Montreux rapids, last evening caught a large "bull-head" and called in the help of a small boy to take the ugly "black-bass" from her hook and throw it back into the river. She did not want to break the low catching such ugly looking things. She had a well filled string, however, that were not suckers—at least so the boy reports.

—The legend of Cinderella and her fairy slipper was freshened in the minds of a select few behind the scenes at Myers opera house on Thursday evening during the performance of Esther by the Choral Union. In this instance the love of a slipper fell from the upper landing leading to one of the dressing rooms and struck a "bass solo" causing a tremendous "hit" and rebounding, struck a "soprano solo" causing a "sharp" report. It was captured at this juncture by one of the pages and prevented from doing any great damage.

—Four children had a very narrow escape from death this morning. They were the two sons and two daughters of the late Michael Hanson, of Emerald Grove, and were riding on Main street in a farm wagon. A tug became unbalanced and the horses started at full speed. As they ran, the pole dropped, and a moment later the four children were beneath the overturned wagon. One of the boys was picked up insensible, while his sister, although conscious, was also badly hurt. The other children escaped unhurt.

—We are pained to learn of the hardships that a local officer underwent a few nights ago while in the discharge of his duty. He heard three small boys splashing about under the lower bridge and very naturally supposed them to be in swimming. Before reaching the offenders he had to climb seven feet down a perpendicular rock pipe and when he found the boys were merely fishing for suckers his remarks were rather explosive. They grow even more explosive when he found how much easier a person could climb down a gas pipe than he could climb back. The boys finally took pity on him and brought a step ladder, but not until three old ladies who were going home from prayer meeting and who heard the remarks, had become convinced that the bridge was haunted by an evil spirit.

—A DECIDED GAIN.

AN EVENING SONG.

Welcome Night!
Now the light
Fades from earth away,
Soft and slow,
Creeping low,
Come the shadows gray.

Down the street
Tread foot,
Turn from old ways,
Lured one wait,
By the gate,
At the close of day.

Mothers sweet,
Wait to greet,
All the household band,
Hurry they flock
As to a rock
In a weary land.

Over all
Night will fall,
Of a longer day,
But that none
Will come home,
Nevermore to stray.

Welcome Night!
Heavenly light,
Bathed over all,
Angels wait,
By the gate,
Where Death's shadows fall.

RAISON TROUGHTS

Suggested by Observations in Our Busy City.

Two men were building a wire fence in the suburbs of the city the other day, and the occasional passers-by were somewhat entertained by the performance.

To the spectators the somberness of the play was relieved by a decided touch of humor, but doubtless the mere suggestion of a comedy would have jarred harshly on the excited nerves of the actors, wrought up to a solemn interest in their tragic performance.

They had commenced immediately after breakfast, when the birds were singing their mellow, and their hearts were fully attuned to the harmonies around them, and at peace with all the world; but a few hours' labor had changed the whole face of nature to their exasperated souls.

The scientific operation of wire fence building has been in vogue long enough to be brought to a state of perfection by a few of the initiated, but to the ignorant and inexperienced it is ever presenting new points of interest.

MEMORIAL DAY.

General Orders From National and State Headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The Day to Be Observed by W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, of Janesville.

The Members of the Post to Attend Divine Service at Christ Church, May 29th.

The members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, Grand Army of the Republic, will observe Memorial Day (Monday, May 30th) in accordance with their ritual and the orders of national and state department commanders. The arrangement of the details for the observance of the day is now in the hands of the committee, who will report at the regular meeting of the Post on Friday evening of next week. The Post has accepted an invitation to attend services at Christ church on Sunday, May 29th, when the Rev. Dr. E. W. Hensling, rector, will hold services appropriate to the occasion.

The following general and special orders are published for the benefit of the public:

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS, GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, JANESVILLE, WIS., MAY 12, 1887.

General Order No. 11.

Ninety-two years ago the then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, in general orders, set apart the 30th day of May and suggested that it be consecrated to the memory of the fallen soldiers of the nation.

This being the first Memorial Day occurring since his death, the commander-in-chief said that the eloquent and appropriate words of General Orders No. 11, 1868, uttered by that illustrious soldier and beloved comrade John A. Logan, be again taken as inspiration and guidance for the 30th day of May, 1887.

HEADQUARTERS, GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, JANESVILLE, WIS., MAY 12, 1887.

General Order No. 11.

I. The 30th day of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of observing the day of the fallen soldiers of the Republic, and of their country during the late rebellion, and whose bodies now lie in almshouses, city, village and hamlet churchyard in the land.

In this conference no formal exercises are prescribed, but the members of the Grand Army of the Republic are urged to observe the day in a fitting manner, and to use every effort to secure the observance of the day in a fitting manner, and to use every effort to secure the observance of the day in a fitting manner.

We are organized, comrades, as our regulations tell us, for the purpose of securing the observance of the day in a fitting manner, and to use every effort to secure the observance of the day in a fitting manner.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.

Let us, comrades, be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers, and let us be true to the memory of the fallen soldiers.
